

If the Shoe Fits, Buy It! Monologues

Gilman: Cut! Cut! Listen, Cindy, darling. It's not you, honey. It's the concept. Why don't you take five? Jacky, baby, nobody "literally" eats off of the floor. It's just a saying. And no matter how clean her castle floor is, no queen wants to see her little princes and princesses eating porridge off of the floor. It's just gauche.

Cinderella: Ladies and gentlewomen of the Land, are you tired of traveling sacks leaving you feeling like a wandering troll? Do you want to impress the lords of the manor with your business skills? Then have we got a product for you! It's the Case of Power! Wicked witches can store apples for their travels, yet it's sturdy enough to haul pickaxes to the dwarves' mine!